The Weimar Republic (1919-1933) was a time of political instability, economic volatility, and societal upheaval in Germany. The aftermath of World War I, hyperinflation, and the rise of radical political movements created a climate of uncertainty that found expression in the arts, particularly in cinema. Expressionism: The Aesthetic of Inner Turmoil

Expressionism emerged as a dominant style in Weimar film, emphasizing emotional experience over realistic representation. It was heavily influenced by the Expressionist movement in painting and theater, characterized by:

- Distorted Sets and Architecture: Buildings and interiors with jagged lines, skewed perspectives, and exaggerated geometries (e.g., The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari, 1920).
- Chiaroscuro Lighting: Sharp contrasts between light and shadow to create mood and highlight psychological states.
